Warning: Do not use this product in any other way than as described in the instructions. This product is intended for the carbonation of beer, wine, cider, soda, or similar consumable beverages at no more than 50psi or 140F ; no other liquids should be pumped through the QuickCarb™.

Parts List:

1. Coupler Wing Nut (2pcs)
2. ¼" Male Flare (2pcs)
3. Coupler Washer (2pcs)
4. 12v DC Power Adapter

Assembly and Operation:

Important: Follow all instructions for the QuickCarb from its owner's manual. The following will direct you how to modify the assembly procedures and operate the QuickCarb when using commercial standard coupler connections.

1. Replace both the black and grey ball locks with the male flare fittings, coupler wing nuts, and washers.
2. Ensure to follow the QuickCarb Cleaning, Sanitation, and care procedures outlined in the manual.
3. Use the 12V power adapter instead of the original 6V

Note: If the check valve in the coupler cannot be removed, an additional 4 to 5 psi may be required to achieve proper carbonation

4. The general function will be the same as the standard quick carb instructions but new parameters may be necessary for proper carbonation.
 - a. If a check valve is present in the coupler, remove the check valve for less restrictive flow of the beer back into the coupler.
 - b. Use about 2-3 psi higher pressure than shown on the carb chart for adequate carbonation.
5. Run time may vary depending on the size of the keg being used.
 - a. Allow 45 minutes per 5 gallons of beer
 - b. Adjust the pressure up or down a few psi until adequate carbonation is reached

Tips:

- Sanitation can be done with the coupler submerged in StarSan while recirculating with the pump
- Ensure to re-install the check valve after disconnecting the QuickCarb
- Document the pressures that work well for your system for future use
